“...I tell you, Peter, before the cock crows his day, you will deny three times that you know me. (LUKE 22:34)
how many times have you heard someone make a disparaging comment about God or our Catholic faith? How did you react? Do you remain quiet not to cause a disturbance? Or, because you don’t think you know enough about the Catholic faith? Pray for the courage to speak up and enter into a respectful dialogue when the opportunity arises. Joyfully share your faith with others.

Passiontide & Holy Week

The tradition of veiling statues during Passiontide comes from the Gospel passage from John 8 heart on First Passion Sunday. At the end of the Gospel the people take up stones to cast at Jesus, but Jesus mysteriously passes through the crowd unseen and then hides. The veiling also reminds us that Christ’s Divinity was hidden at the time of His Passion and death. The historical origin of this practice derives from a custom found in the ninth century, of extending a large cloth before the altar from the beginning of Lent. This cloth, called the “Hungertuch” (hunger cloth), hid the altar entirely from the faithful. No one could see the altar at all. During the reading of the Passion on Holy Wednesday at the words “the veil of the temple was rent in two,” the veil was parted, and the faithful again saw the altar.
